PROUD WINNER GPHG AWARD 2022

Great news from Geneva: just a few minutes ago The Horological Brothers Bart & Tim Grönefeld were honoured to receive the prestigious Grand Prix d'Horlogerie de Genève in the Chronograph category for the 1941 Grönograaf!

Bart and Tim take home their third GPHG award. After winning in 2014 with the Parallax Tourbillon in the Tourbillon category and in 2016 with the 1941 Remontoire in the Men's watch category, this third award is the icing on the cake.

Our immense gratitude goes out to our entire team, family and our friends that supply us with the best components available. And of course to our customers that put so much trust in our timepieces.

ABOUT THE AWARD-WINNING 1941 GRÖNOGRAAF

While Grönefeld produced a number of different watches endowed with a variety of complications, it had never made a chronograph... until this year.

The 1941 Grönograaf is a classical chronograph, but consistent with the Grönefeld ethos, it incorporates several ingenious details.

Grönefeld will release 188 pieces in stainless steel and 25 pieces in tantalum. Only the stainless steel version is still available.

This 1941 Grönograaf is the distillation of three generations of watchmaking know-how, of the professional journeys of both Horological Brothers and the manifestation of their extraordinary passion for horology.
